Copyright Information

Who holds the copyright?

In many cases, Cuban Art News, The Farber Foundation Inc. , and/or affiliates and Owners, Directors does not hold the copyright to materials in its archives and so cannot grant or deny permission to publish them, nor can they assume responsibility for determining their copyright status. If the work is not in the public domain, it is the responsibility of the researcher to secure permission from the appropriate copyright holder to publish or quote from items in the archives collection.

Identifying copyright holder(s) and obtaining permission to publish or quote from items in the Cuban Art News archives are the responsibility of the requester.

Your use of images from Cuban Art News, or the Farber Foundation Inc. and affiliates and/or Owners or Directors should be contingent upon your locating and securing permission beforehand from the individual or entity that may claim those rights.

The CUBAN ART NEWS ARCHIVES retains all rights in and to the Archival Materials, including the right to publish them itself or to grant permission to others to do so. If the CUBAN ART NEWS ARCHIVES grants permission to publish, such permission will be granted in writing. The CUBAN ART NEWS ARCHIVES requests a copy of any such publication in print, and the URL for any digital publication.
